

The Green Party flagship magazine has gone online! Fresh content is published every day on a beautifully designed, easy to navigate website.

It is the place where Green Party members get their information.

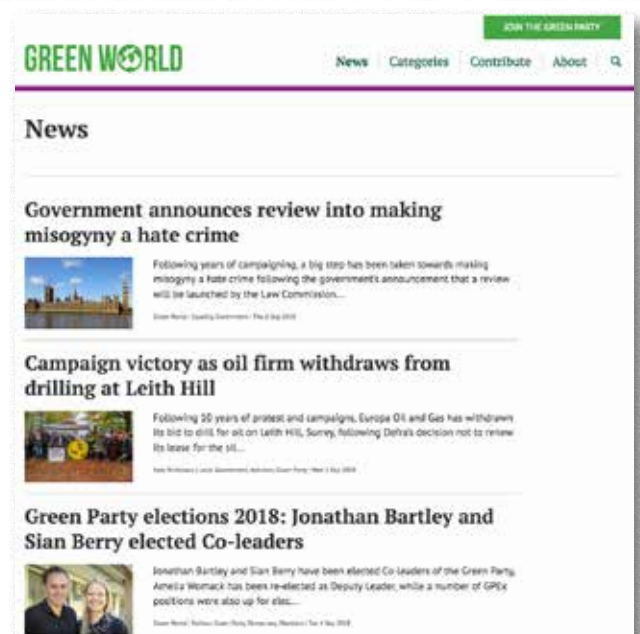

Green World is published by the Green Party of England and Wales (formerly the Ecology party), which has existed since 1973.

Green World has been the party's official magazine for over 20 years. The Green World website continues to be a valuable source of information about social and environmental justice, ecology, sustainability and political activism.

The Green Party has links with national and international campaigns and organisations. These are reflected in the diversity of contributors to, and readers of, Green World.

The website contains:

- Themed features from expert authors on political, social and environmental issues
- News about the Green Party's achievements and successes
- Columnists from the Green Party and other organisations
- Lively letters, book reviews and events listings
